

For immediate release;

Nuevo DVC offering.

We're back! Hello to our patrons, both old and hopefully, new. DVC, or Dynamic Vice Counseling, Inc, was created to allow for the rational analysis of the differential patterns of vices enjoyed by our customers with feedback allowing them to balance their various libidinous perversions so as to avoid succumbing prematurely to any one overloaded bodily system. The idea is to maximize the total area under the curve of the whole panoply of available vices to maximize overall boogie-woogie over time. As our founder, the late J. Bedlington Fonsbury, M.D. CPA, so sagely observed, "Feeling good right now is a pretty good definition of health."

We later introduced Fiscally Augmented DVC © to allow our clientele to match and up or down-titrate their prurient proclivities to their portfolios so as to avoid any unpleasantness regarding their various bills and ideally stretch partying to their very last actuarially determined day, or night, of life. But now DVC is prepared to introduce a new and even more exciting product to expand your opportunities for debauchery.

DVC Inc., perennial market leader in the field of vice counseling, is announcing an upcoming public offering to raise capital for a new foray into "the next level," as detailed in our new prospectus. Since the launch of basic DVC in the Nineties, and the geometric growth with the introduction of such new products as Fiscally Augmented Dynamic Vice Counseling© in the last decade, such great strides have been made in the field of vice that a quantum leap is necessary to “exploit technological synergies” which were heretofore not possible.

The corporation is announcing its newest line; “BitViceBiT©” Vice powered bit-coin/Bit-coin powered vice. This breakthrough offers a win-win for both the company shareholders and its serious boogie-side customers. In the past we have prided ourselves on accepting payment in a plethora of specie from rubles to zlotys to rin-min-be. We are especially proud of responding to an expanding market in North Korean Won paralleling the opening of our newest ultramodern branch office in beautiful downtown Pyongyang, also know in the industry as “Party Pyongyang.” While this expansion in convenience is something of which we are very proud, it absolutely pales before our next step; as of this season we believe we have found a way to actually POWER THE CREATION OF BIT-COIN BY BOOGIE POWER AND PAY FOR MORE BOOGIE WITH THAT BITCOIN.

In the past Bit-coin creation has depended upon “mining” and who ever heard of having a bit of fun “mining” anything, given the associated dust, sweat, and cave-ins. And truth be told, though there is an awful lot of “look-over-here” razzle-dazzle and techno-legerdemain, no one since Satoshi Nakamoto has yet to truly understand the connection between this glorified high-school math homework of “mining” and the creation of tangible wealth. However, in the same vein, our research and development branch, along with our marketing people have determined that it is just as real and as realistic to power the creation of bit-coin by partying as it is by notional computer activity. And frankly, way cooler in both the social and the electrical engineering senses.

With Mr. Musk's recent Neuralink advance allowing the routine 9 to 5 automated retail-mart stereotactic insertion of brain stimulators for everyone, it is now possible to bring the whole market of deep brain stimulation into the 21st century. DVC 's new, patented Efferent Limbic Collation System® simply plugs into the vice-stimulated nucleus accumbens, reversing current flow and soaking that bad boy for everything its worth. The more the high, the more the amperage out, and the more Bit-coin produced. Simple.

And there let the bon temps rouler because while it has been shown that a simple WATS land line phone system is more than adequate to handle with all of the traffic that the public undertakes to at least try to actually take care of their health, it is postulated that the current nascent 5G net systems will not have anywhere near enough capacity to address peoples' vice production over the near and long term. We are in current discussion with the larger cell providers to skip right on through 6 G and have 7 or even 8 G rolled out in time to handle the band-width necessary for this new DVC product. And the beauty, after a small original input from the customer, a "priming" of capital, we will have created, at long last, a perpetual motion machine of concupiscence. Partying, transduced into bit-coin "mining" activity, will yield, as though out of the business end of the goose-that-laid- the-golden-egg, a constant value stream with which to finance even further get-down-activity. The perfect circle, if not exactly the "virtuous" one. This activity will be mediated, for a small charge, by our new in-house block-chain unit, "Bit-me."

This amazing accounting opportunity was made available because of the change in administration of an unnamed country on a unnamed continent which is business friendly to the point of diverting planned computational access for several of its smaller potential trading partners hydro-electric and agricultural projects into ultra short term (less than 1 nanosec) ROI and their realization that unlike riskier commodities like rice or antibiotics, vice, in all its forms, is the most stably securitizable commodity in the world. Always was, always will be, and therein lies the security of your investment. As is widely known, you'll never go broke betting on lust. Or gluttony, or inebriation in any of its multiplex modern forms.

Another advantage of the block-chain/vice synergy is that because the individual block-chain transactions on the front end are each only partial, or "micro" tranches of your particular perversion, augmented with multiple layers of our patented Rhino Hide© encryption system it will be virtually impossible to reconstruct on tape or other e-imaging portals, the entirety of your particular boogie on the back end, thus preserving deniability and avoiding any messy future indictments or public airings. If indictments do happen to arrive, our Platinum members will be able to take advantage of the "auto-diversion" of funds feature connected world-wide and connected securely to any of over 50,000 judicial entities from the Directorie de Interpol down to the police chief in Chicken Neck, Arkansas.

We are also "green" in that the heat from all this activity will be shifted from massive macro-electrical grid consumption and cooling requirements to the gigacaloric output of the fevered brains of our clients, individually cooled at the micro-level by nothing more than tall, cool drinks with small paper parasols.

Once again, DVC is proud to be the industry leader in licentiousness.